Importing and exporting user files

Overview

We provide two scripts to facilitate the uploading and downloading of files for a tool. This allows users to upload their own input file to the tool via the web interface. The export script allows a user to download a tool simulation result directly from the tool via the web interface without accessing their home directory separately.